ATTENTION

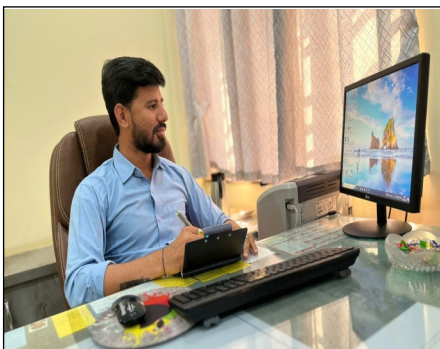

Does your children has a habit of eating while looking at their mobile phones...???

In the rat race world, parents do not have enough time to feed the children with love and affection. The mobile phone has taken over the place of love and feelings. The parent also gets a kind of peace with the mobile that the child will eat without any fusses. How dangerous this habits can be on Child!

In today's mechanical life, Parents have no time for their own Children and in the nuclear family practice Grandparents are also not with the children and mobile phones have taken the place of all family members.

Parents are mostly responsible for this habit. Parents are so busy with their professional life and they give the plate of food and mobile together to the children and they will start another work. Children don't even know what is going to be served in the plate while watching videos on mobile. Children will not get answer of the questions arising in the mind. Children's curiosity goes away and their mental development is stunted.

Mr. Hemant J. Bera
(Camp Director)

How dangerous mobile addiction is for children?

- As children eat or play with mobile, a mute mouth their ability to speak is affected.
- Creative and psychomotor skills of the children do not flourish by over use of mobile.
- Excessive use of mobile phones affects children's communication skills and weakens their eyesight.
- When children continuously engage them self with mobile they may start to believe virtual and they may ignore real world.

- Playing games in mobile phones for long hours create Repetitive Stress Injury) thus affects mental stress.
- Children get addicted to mobiles and lose control over themselves.
- If children don't get mobile their temperament becomes irritable.

Keep Children away from mobile phones by these ways

- No matter, how busy your life schedule is don't rely on the mobile to feed the children.
- Engage children in storytelling, so their curiosity grows.
- Spend some quality time in a day with children so that parents also stay away from mobiles.
- For teaching and learning new things use books instead of electronic gadgets.
